CRITICS OF WAR BONUS FLAYED

Edward H. Hale Denounces Stay-at-Homes Who Oppose Awards to Service Men

Washington, March 3.—Failure of Congress to provide a bonus or other recognition for the former service man was classed today as one of the "Ingratitudes of republics" by Edward H. Hale, representative of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, before the House Ways and Means Committee in charge of war bonus legislation.

"Receptions given us when we returned from France now stand out in their emptyness," Hale declared. "Six months ago this committee held hearings on bills aimed to grant additional compensation to the men and wo-

WILSON RIDES OUT IN AUTO

President Remarks High Cost of Living Seen on the Butcher's Sign

Washington, March 6.—For the first in nearly six months President Wilson left the White House today and went for an automobile ride.

The President learned about the high cost of living as he passed a butcher shop, where he saw a big sign: "Park, 35 cents a pound."

Turning to Dr. Grayson the President said: "I knew the cost of living was high, but signs like that bring it home to one."

The President was accompanied by Mrs. Wilson, Dr. Cary T. Grayson and secret service operatives.

The President walked to and from the car to the White House door. He carried a cane and was supported either side by Mrs. Wilson and Dr. Grayson.

Dr. Grayson declared after the President's return that the outing undoubtedly had done him a world of good.

She further admitted under questioning by Henry F. Hurlburt, her husband's attorney, that on December 24 last she agreed to marry Scoville when both should be free. Scoville was married and had two children.

The witness said further, that she and Scoville had exchanged kisses and embraces in her apartment in Brookline, at one time in the presence of her brother and sister-in-law.

MAKE BIDS FOR BALL CLUB

David Stoneman and Holland Brothers Now Seeking Control of Team

The Red Sox, in all probability, will change hands during the next forty-eight hours. Just who will acquire title to the club is more or less problematical, for two syndicates are bidding for it.

Unquestionably during the same period Harry H. Frazee, present owner of the club, will settle his financial differences with Joseph J. Lannin and hold clear title to dispose.

Frazee will pay Lannin somewhere in the vicinity of $225,000.

In the Supreme Court today Frazee sought an injunction to restrain Lannin from disposing of the common capital stock in the Fenway Realty Trust, owners of Fenway Park. Judge DeCourcey listened to arguments, then announced a postponement for one week. No injunction was issued, nor was the stock of the trust sold at the advertised auction.

One syndicate headed by David Stoneman, an attorney, seeks title to the club. Another, including the Hol-

Collars Advance to 35 Cents April 1

Men's collars are going up—not in height, but in price. Once two for a quarter, they jumped a year ago to 25 cents apiece; now they are thirty, and on April 1 it will cost fastidious youth and self-respecting middle age 35 cents to "sport" a white collar.

By summer, prices threaten to be higher still, say the oracles, because labor is going up 45 per cent, and cotton canvas is scarce. And we always thought they were made of linen!

EIGHT SALEM FIREMEN HURT

Pung Capsizes on Way to Garage Blaze; Two Men Badly Bruised

Salem, March 3.—Eight firemen were injured today by the capsizing of a pung which they were using while responding to an alarm for a fire in the garage of William A. Merrill, No. 6 Linden street. The pung overturned twice, the first time without injury. Lieutenant Terrence Nolan and Elbert A. K. Woodbury were severely bruised and taken to their homes; the others were slightly hurt.

The damage is estimated at between $6,000 and $7,000.

Incidental to the fire were several runaways, when horses were startled by the apparatus. A horse owned by Albert Audet, a grocer, broke loose from his pung and ran nearly the entire length of Lafayette street on the sidewalk. Scores of persons out for the noon hour, and school children, narrowly escaped injury.

POLICEMAN TRIED FOR ASSAULT

Findings Sent to Curtis in Case of Policeman Accused of Beating Prisoner

Captains Reardon, Hickey and Murphy, sitting as a trial board, have completed the taking of evidence in the case of Patrolman John J. O'Connor of the Charlestown police station, charged with assaulting a prisoner in a cell in the station.

The finding has been sent to Commissioner Curtis for his perusal and for promulgation.

O'Connor was tried on charges prepared by Captain Michael J. Goff of the Charlestown station following complaint that Joseph E. Murphy had been assaulted while held in a cell.

Though an American reporter yesterday asked Captain Goff if O'Connor was to be tried, that official denied any such intent.

At the time Captain Goff was making this denial and attempt to minimize the matter, the trial board was taking evidence against the accused policeman at headquarters. There were several witnesses at the hearing, including police officers and civilians.

It is understood that at the trial O'Connor claimed Murphy hurled a vile epithet at him as he passed the cell. It is also understood that he further claimed the prisoner thrust his leg through the cell bars and kicked at him. Then, according to rumor, O'Connor testified, he reached through and slapped the prisoner.

This story is at variance with that told by Murphy and others. It is intimated that an action may be taken wholly outside the departmental regulations. Friends of Murphy are advising him regarding a contemplated step.

Rain, Maybe Snow, Forecaster Warns

Rain or snow probably tomorrow night, warns Forecaster Smith, but in the meantime "a good healthy thaw" goes on. Snow began to fade under the influence of a warm sun and a temperature which went from 21 degrees to 40 in a few hours.

It will be fair tonight, with Thursday unsettled and considerable cloudiness, and there will be moderate variable winds, becoming southerly. In other words, while it isn't like Havana or Seattle hereabouts, it could be a lot worse.

LAWSON POSTED FOR TAX BILL

Owes City Total of $15,948 on House and Land at the Charlesgate

Thomas W. Lawson's town house and other land at Charlesgate East, on which $15,948.50 is owing to the city of Boston, was put up for sale for non-payment of taxes and betterments at the annual tax sale in the city collector's office today.

No attempt has been made by Mr. Lawson to redeem the property, City Collector Deland said.

There is $7,271.64 due in 1918-19 taxes on land on Bay State road and $5,598.42 on building and land at No. 1 Charlesgate East. There is also a lien on the northerly side of Beacon street, and a third piece on Bay State road. It is said that the Five Cent Savings Bank holds mortgages on these properties.

Tax title sharks, who fight over choice parcels like dogs over a bone, passed up the Lawson property because the taxes were too high. The property will be put up again at an adjourned sale next Tuesday, and if not bid in by anyone will be taken over by the city.

DECLARES OFFICERS BEAT HIM

Sammarco Breaks Down on Stand and Says He Didn't Mean to Kill Clancey

Joseph Sammarco charged on the witness stand today that the police extorted his confession of the slaying of Patrolman William G. Clancey from him by brutal third degree methods.

He declared he was struck and terrorized when he made the confession in Station 1 and that it was in large part untrue.

Sammarco named Patrolman Fuscari as the man who hit him, and alleged that Sergeant Magner and Patrolman Chalaxion abused and intimidated him.

Asked by District Attorney Pelletier why he had made the same statements in two different confessions, the prisoner said dramatically: "I was afraid. This is the first chance I have had to tell the truth."

Sammarco testified that Captain Michael Goff was present when Fuscari hit him. He said that in the formal confession made later at headquarters he was afraid to change his story, because the same men were present, and he was afraid they would hit him again.

The defendant's story of the killing of Patrolman Clancey in Roughan's Hall differed radically today from that contained in the confession. He testified today that he shot in self-defence, as he believed he was about to be shot by Patrolman Di Franco, Clancey's companion.

CONFESSION OBTAINED BY BRUTAL THIRD DEGREE, SAYS SAMMARCO

PRISONER CHARGES ABUSE BY POLICE OFFICERS

Sammarco said that there had been a great deal of trouble at the dance hall the night of the shooting, and that Patrolman Di Franco kept urging Clancey on to "get" various young Italians. He said that as the climax of this trouble Di Franco pushed through a crowd and threatened to shoot him, at the same time holding something in his pocket close to Sammarco's body.

SAMMARCO BREAKS DOWN.

"I felt that it was a revolver," said the defendant. "I had seen Di Franco in action before, and knew he was a 'bad' man. I thought I was going to be shot, and drew my own revolver.

"Just as I pulled the trigger somebody brushed my arm, and the bullet went into Clancey's chest, instead of Di Franco's knee, where I meant to place it."

As Sammarco denied any intention of killing Clancey, he broke down and repeated several times, "I didn't mean to shoot poor Clancey. I swear to that."

The defendant said that after the shooting he threw away the revolver and went home, but made no effort to leave the city.

In describing the actions of the two policemen just before the shooting, he said that Clancey went about knocking young men's cigarettes out of their mouths and that Di Franco kept telling him that if he "started anything" he would get plenty of help. Shortly before the shooting four additional patrolmen entered the hall with drawn revolvers, he added.

In cross-examination Sammarco admitted that it was possibly three minutes after Di Franco threatened him that the drew his revolver and fired.

SWEETHEART TESTIFIES.

The defendant was followed on the stand by Rose Palladino of No. 226 Hanover street, West End. Miss Palladino, a pretty young woman, said she was Sammarco's sweetheart. She testified as to his character.

Frank Rotunda was the third witness for the defence. Rotunda was one of several young men arrested on suspicion of complicity in the shooting before Sammarco's confession. He corroborated most of the defendant's statements as to the events leading up to the tragedy, and denied that Clancey was shocked down just before he was shot.

Sammarco said that the revolver with which he did the shooting was not obtained with any idea of shooting anybody, but that he bought it in December for his own protection, as he was carrying about large sums of money.

DR. MAGRATH TESTIFIES.

Medical Examiner George Burgess Magrath was one of the last witnesses for the State. He testified that he performed an autopsy on the body of the murdered patrolman at the Haymarket Relief Station, and that death was due to hemorrhage caused by a bullet which penetrated the upper chest, entering the heart sac and the left lung.

Dr. Magrath was questioned as to the location of Clancey's gun, as bearing on the defendant's claim that he shot because he was in fear of his own life.

The medical examiner testified that the gun was in the holster in a rear pocket, when he arrived at the Relief Hospital, and that it could not have been seen by anybody at the dance hall.

Fishermen Earn $100 a Day as Junkmen

Portsmouth, N. H., March 3.—Fishermen are earning $100 per day here, grappling for junk, metal and coal in the waters along the navy yard wharves. These men, placed in a serious plight by the recent storms which destroyed most of their lobster gear, found the loss a blessing in disguise, for they are uncovering valuable materials off shore in large quantities. Rear Admiral Halstead granted permission to the fishermen to work along the waterfront, provided anything of value to the navy be returned to the yard. The men, on their word of honor, turned in a gun sight and a telescope.

BROKER TO WED MRS. NELSON

Promised to Wait Until Each Was Set Free, Says Accused Woman

named James H. Green, a New York clothing merchant, declared that she had known Scoville since her girlhood. She said that she knew his wife was suing him for divorce on the ground of desertion and that Mrs. Scoville had since secured her freedom.

The testimony of Mrs. Nelson created a sensation in the courtroom, which was thronged as a result of the action of Nelson's counsel in putting the wife on the stand yesterday.

When the cross-examination was resumed today the trend of Attorney Hurbert's question led to the various places at which Mrs. Nelson had lived since leaving her husband.

When the woman stated that the Cliff Hotel, Scituate, was among them she was immediately asked if she had met Scoville there.

THINKS CONDUCT PROPER.

Mrs. Nelson replied that she did, but denied that she had ever been in Scoville's room or he in hers. All of his visits to her, she declared, were perfectly proper, and on many occasions were made in the presence of others.

Asked if she thought her conduct to be modest and proper for a married woman, with a married man who was being sued for divorce, the witness replied: "Yes, under the circumstances."

Asked if she knew anything of Scoville's finances, she said that she did not. Replying to a sarcastic query on the part of Attorney Hurlburt as to whether she accepted Scoville's offer of marriage solely because she loved him, Mrs. Nelson said: "Yes."

She denied that little Nancy, five-year-old daughter, was ever present when Scoville kissed her.

DOESN'T LOVE GREEN.

Questioned regarding Green, Mrs. ——— admitted that she "liked" him, but did not love him. She characterized Green's action in writing the "Dearest Eve" letter, which started the divorce proceedings, as an "awful thing to do." In a later letter Green stated that the "dearest Eve" epistle was written while he was under the influence of intoxicants for the first time.

Mrs. Nelson maintained that in Green's presence she had always conducted herself in a modest manner and had never given him any reason for writing such a letter. She denied that the letter was "slushy."

The witness said she first met Green at a Boston skating rink when she was twenty-one or twenty-two years old, and a student at Miss Farmer's cooking school. She did not begin to call him "Jim" until 1917, at Devereaux Beach.

"WONDERFUL LOOKING MAN."

Mrs. Nelson said that she did not object to being called "Eve" by Green, as all her friends used the diminutive. She told of an engagement which Green made with her to go to Springfield, returning by motor to Boston. On another occasion he accompanied her to the home of her dressmaker in West Medford. She admitted asking the dressmaker if she did not think Green was a "wonderful looking man."

Scoville, with whom Mrs. Nelson had previously admitted she was in love, entered the court room shortly before noon.

Mrs. Scoville was Catherine Steele, daughter of the late Lucius B. Steele of Melrose and reputed millionaire. Her divorce petition was heard February 16, and was uncontested. She was given custody of the two children.

4 and 5 Are? Right! You're Not Ivory

Can you tell, off hand, just like that, how many four and five are?

Can you tell, at 100 per cent. speed, whether docile and captious mean the same? Whether, to pursue this subject to its innermost inwardness, you are docile when you are captious, or captious when you are docile, or vice versa, or anything else that quickly comes into your mind?

If you can, you are probably all right mentally. That is, if you can answer these posers, and several pages more of other posers, hard as these or even harder. If you cannot answer these questions, the faculty and power of then it's all wrong—all wrong, with you, at any rate.

For these are the questions which every student at Boston University School of Business Administration is being asked this week. Under the direction of Dr. John M. Chamberlain, head of the department of psychology, the tests went on today, and young business brows are wrinking as the sheep are divided from the goats. Here follow some of the posers which students are answering. They are adaptations from the United States Intelligence tests.

Test A: If a company makes two aeroplanes a day for six days, how many aeroplanes does it make in all?

AND IF YOU CAN'T—

There you are for an arithmetical proposition. Answer it if you can. If you cannot, you are probably, by Binet & Co., some five years, three months and fourteen days old mentally. For people who cannot pass the mental tests, of course, are not up to their age mentally. The tests tell; the tests tell.

For instance, on Test C:

Two words, meaning either the same thing or different, are placed side by side. If they mean the same thing the student underlines "SAME," which is printed on the paper; if they mean opposite, why vice versa. Now eyes open—no napping. Here are the words:

Sweet. Sour.	Same. Opposite.
Fat. Stout.	Same. Opposite.
Insane. Mad.	Same. Opposite.
Fractious. Gentle.	Same. Opposite.
Civil. Political.	Same. Opposite.

THE ACTRESS AND PAINT.

As you mark, so shall your measure be. But this is not all. The best is coming, or the worst. This is in the form of mixed-up sentences. Gravely the student reads on his paper—"Anyone powder and sometimes paint applies," or, yet again, the future, earnest young John D. Rockefeller, at Boston University, reads on his paper such conundrums as these:

"Snow black all is," or else, "Fish a swims."

Is he supposed to restore order to this chaos of a sentence?

He is not. He is simply supposed to read said sentence, and after reading it, in correct order, to underline on the right hand side of the page, the word true or false.

Well, some of them, today, rather inclined to the belief that actresses did use paint and nearly every one of these young master minds was sure that a fish swims.

But the acid test, the ordeal that racked men's brains, came with test E. The student was given sentences which he could finish with the correct word. Here are some of the sentences.

Men talk with the ears—hands—mouth—eyes.

Be it announced to all untutored minds that the direct way for any budding aspirant, at Boston University, to answer this question, is—"men talk with the mouth."

TRY AUTOIST FOR DEATH OF THREE

Walter N. Chessman, 22, of Quincy, Accused of Driving at High Speed in Brockton

The trial of Walter N. Chessman of Quincy, charged with manslaughter in three counts, opened today in the Superior Court at Quincy. Chessman, who is twenty-two, is charged with causing the death of Myrtle Smith, nineteen, Hazel Pollard and Irving Taft, both eighteen, all of Brockton, who were instantly killed when struck by his automobile June 15 last.

The tragedy occurred on Belmont road, near the Brockton Fair grounds. Assistant District Attorney Harold P. Williams, who opened the case for the Commonwealth, charged that Chessman was driving at an excessive rate of speed.

According to evidence, the three victims, with August Lawson, also of Brockton, were walking along the roadside, where there is no sidewalk, about 9 p. m., when Chessman, turning out for a car coming from the opposite direction, struck them. Lawson suffered a fractured skull.

BONUS CRITICS DENOUNCED

Hale and Treadway in Clash Over Attack on Legion Chief

men who served this country. That hearing was notoriously sterile of results.

Hale scored those opposing the granting of a bonus on the ground that "The careers of such self appointed censors of patriotism and commercialized patriotism are notably filled with pacific patriotism which did not prompt them to go overseas.

"In considering this legislation, you must consider that the men who went overseas did not get the high war salaries which makes it possible for those who remained in civil life to have their fur-lined overcoats and 'drivers' while the service men are still wearing their service overcoats to keep warm.

"Is it any wonder we champed at the delay in granting simple justice? Is there any reason to wonder why we are resentful? The only wonder is that we have been so long suffering and patient."

Hale spoke for a bonus were outlined by Hale. They were:

1—Bonus of $30 a month for each month of service.

2—Opportunity to purchase a home on money lent by the government at a proper interest rate and secured by the property purchased.

"You cannot pay the veterans of the World War for what they did; we ask you to recompense them in some measure for what they lost," Hale explained.

Charges that Franklin O'Gier, commander of the American Legion, "misstated facts" to the committee were made by Hale.

The remark caused a storm of protest among the members of the committee, which was discontinued only when Chairman Fordney declared, "Order must be maintained or we will quit these hearings."

Hale said the "erroneous statements should be contradicted."

Representative Treadway, representative of Massachusetts, declared the committee should not permit criticism of the American legion because of "Rivalry existing between the various organizations."

"We must permit criticism if we are to get anywhere," Representative Garner, Democrat, of Texas, declared. The argument caused several committeemen to leave the room. They were recalled by Chairman Fordney and order was restored.

Hale suggested a tax of 2 per cent. on incomes of $50,000 and graduated to 7 per cent. for incomes of $1,000,000 and over to meet the bonus.

Representative Longworth, of Ohio, Republican, asked if Hale was for a flat $30 a month with no additional grant.

"I would recommend a $100 additional for overseas service, and exempt men who served less than two months from the provisions of the act because they have received $60," Hale explained. "I would fix a minimum grant of $240.

CHARGES PAID WOMEN LOBBYISTS ARE BACKING MOVIE CENSOR BILL

BILL IS ATTACKED AS GIVING AUTOCRATIC POWERS

Charging that paid women lobbyists were among the proponents of the bill to censor moving pictures in this State, Representative F. B. Pheeney of Boston, a member of the Committee on Mercantile Affairs, hearing the measure, injected a dramatic climax into the closing hour of the session.

The charges was made while Miss Amy Woods was defending the bill, appearing as secretary of the Massachusetts Committee on Moving Pictures.

As the committeemen snapped his allegation at the witness a momentary rustle, followed by an intense silence, swept the auditorium crowded with over a thousand spectators.

PAID LOBBYISTS.

"Isn't it a fact, Miss Woods, that some of the women whose names appear here as the executive committee of this State committee in favor of the censorship bill, are paid lobbyists, registered at the State House as legislative agents as a matter of business?" he asked.

"I do not know," replied Miss Woods. "If you tell me their names I can give you what information I have. For myself, my salary is paid by the League for Preventive Work."

"Well, I see on this list the name of Mrs. Wendell Osborne, Pinkham, who, I believe, is registered as a lobbyist," answered the Representative.

"Mrs. Pinkham, I believe," replied the witness, "is secretary of the League of Women Voters, but I do not know of any one who would become here to support this bill."

The dialogue was followed with breathless interest. It came after the opponents of the bill had put forth their strongest arguments in an effort to down the proponents, after a powerful array of speakers had assailed with legic and sarcasm, and at times with a tinge of bitterness, the attempt to foist upon the State a committee which would have within its keeping the censorship of all films brought within the confines of Massachusetts.

With the close of the session, opponents of the bill declared that the fight was only begun.

"On the list of the executive committee of the State committee on motion pictures appear the names of Miss Nichols and Miss Hedstrom, who are also listed as the State's paid lobbyists," said Representative Phinney.

The opponents of the censorship, who declare the bill is an infringement on free speech, had their all-star most powerful allies to the hearing Dr. Orin G. Cocks of the National Board of Review, and Constantine Attorney General of Pennsylvania. Morris Wolf; Attorney Hiram Miller, representing the motion picture trade; Marion Howard Brazier, a Boston club woman.

SAYS CENSOR BOARD FAILURE.

Attorney Wolf, in opening, said that the situation in Pennsylvania, under a State censorship, had not proved a success.

He said that as only one State had followed the example of Pennsylvania in establishing a censorship, while 11 had been before twenty-three States, showed that the example of his State had not come up to expectations.

"No one can tell you why we have a censorship law," he said.

"Unlike Massachusetts, we held no hearings upon this matter. So when the censorship came before our legislative body, no one appeared in opposition. No one, as far as I can find, knew that such a bill was in project. The only man active in the matter was the one in favor of the bill, a man who later was appointed as censor at a salary of $4,000.

"It has been said here that the motion picture business has prospered in our State, but that prosperity is not due to censorship. In fact, censorship by a State group has proved a hardship, and the business has prospered in spite of it.

"The cutting of pictures reduces their artistic and literary features. You mannot cut, twist and distort a picture without doing this. The result is we have pictures without logic. They make the pictures so they are interesting to only one class of people and those people are the ones who do not attend the motion picture houses at all; people who do not go to houses where pictures are shown and who are proud of it. People of that kind do not understand the antics of Charlie Chaplin and the other features which so many hundreds of thousands of other people enjoy.

SAYS CENSORSHIP VICIOUS.

"The censors who see these pictures to cut, are not afraid of their own morals. They are afraid of other people's. This is the essential vice in censorship. You would be surprised to see the foolish things which have been done by these censors.

"On the question of what is moral or immoral, no two persons can ever agree. For instance, there are six pictures showing in Ohio that we say are immoral in Pennsylvania."

Attorney Wolf, in enumerating these plays, drew a laugh from the spectators when he listed two of them in sequence, "Mary's Ankle" and "Dangerous Hours."

"It is a vicious matter to leave to three people to determine what is right for ten millions of people to see.

"According to the censors, we of Pennsylvania should be considerably more moral than the people of Massachusetts, for we have had 54,000 cuts made in our films, in pictures which now show without these cuts in Massachusetts. And yet you people here say you are more moral than we are more moral for all this cutting.

PRESENT LAWS ADEQUATE.

"The work of censors is childish, ridiculous and harmful," he said, while the subject of these cuts, here is one order which reads, 'cut the length of kiss reduced.' It is quite amusing to listen to, but they are disastrous to the industry. The expense of such cuts is great."

Judge J. Albert Brackett, in charge of the opposition, introduced as the first speaker of the session, Mayor Walter H. Creamer of Lynn.

"I desire to say," said Mayor Creamer, "that this bill is a remedy worse than the disease. This bill would give three men the power of arbitrary power to a commission under the bill.

"In Lynn we met the problem by my appointment of a committee of twenty-three men and women and later by an ordinance of 244 to regulate the motion picture houses. The committee visits all the motion picture houses, and their work has proved effective. We should hesitate before we create a commission that can ride. This bill is an entering wedge. If it is kept up we shall soon have a censorship of the press."

When you are attempting to remedy this matter with a bill which is only attempting to kill a fly with a trip-hammer."

Mayor Charles E. McCarthy, of Marlboro, declared that the cities of this State have all the law necessary to safeguard the morals of the community.

"I have never heard a protest in my city of any of the motion pictures shown there, and we are satisfied that we can take care of the question without further legislation."

Judge Brackett then furnished the committee with letters and reports which, he said, would show that in Ohio was dissatisfied with its censorship board, and that the question was now to be submitted to the people at a referendum this coming Fall whether the board should continue in service or not.

Miss Marion Howard Brazier of the Professional Woman's Club characterized the proponents of the bill as "amalgamated reformers," and declared that the people objected to a handful of men and women telling them what they should or should not see.

Charles E. Sands, representing the Central Labor Union of Boston, said that labor was opposed to the bill, and believed in free speech, free press and free assemblage. He also said that the bill was uncalled for, and that the worthy people were able to take care of their own morals if left alone by the reformers.

DEPENDS ON NATIONAL BOARD.

He advocated the burst of merriment when he quoted from Shakespeare, "There is nothing good nor bad, but thinking makes it so."

Dr. Cocks of the National Board of Review outlined the organization of the board, and flatly declared that all attempts to show that the National Board was controlled by the motion picture industry was false and malicious.

He said that he had been secretary of this board for eleven years and that it was supported by a charge of one dollar flat for each reel viewed and from the sale of its bulletin to cities and towns to which it is sent. He said that it consisted of 140 unpaid volunteer representatives of several prominent social organizations, including the Y. M. C. A., settlement houses of New York, and that no member can be in any way connected with the motion picture industry.

"Those which search for something which is obscene in motion pictures, day in and day out, become morbid, logical, and it becomes pathological for them to censor," he stated.

Attorney General Brown of Lynn said that the hearing was only a duplicate of the hearing granted only five years ago, with the same arguments and the same measure.

"The only difference," said Mr. Miller, "is that the committee personnel is changed and there is a whole new group of reformers in place of the old group of reformers who then appeared in favor of the bill.

"To grant this bill would bring upon the State a new case of arrested development. We would mean a State control of public opinion."

LET COAL COME, COOLIDGE PLEA

Governor Once More Asks Secretary Baker to Open Cape Cod Canal

Inspired by the serious condition of the Boston coal situation, Governor Coolidge today appealed to Secretary of War Baker for the third time to co-operate in the reopening of the Cape Cod Canal.

In defending his action he said: "I would not trouble again unless the matter was very urgent."

In his appeal the Governor said: "We have three coal barges at the Cape Cod Canal, which cannot be taken around the cape, I am venturing to ask again if I may request the company to operate the canal on your agreement that it shall prejudice you in no way in your rights under their lawsuit."

More than 20,000 tons of bituminous coal consigned to Boston and nearby places is tied up at the southern entrance to the canal, while Captain H. L. Colbert, the superintendent, sits in his office wondering what is going to happen.

"Here is a perfectly good canal offon vacation at a time when it should be busiest and here are thousands of tons of coal lusted and anchored with red lights outside the entrance to the canal," say the Cape Codders.

Sixteen coal laden barges have been off the canal's entrance since Monday, and to make the picture complete three more came in today! But Captain Colbert sits in his office wondering if the Cape Cod Canal will soon, if ever, be opened up again.

American Heiress Fails to Win Carpentier

By International News Service.

Paris, March 3.—When Georges Carpentier, Apollo of the prize ring and heavyweight champion of Europe, sails for the United States this month after his marriage to a beautiful seventeen-year-old European girl, he will leave behind a disappointed American heiress, who has been persistently following "Leap year tactics" in an effort to win Carpentier for herself.

The identity of the American girl has not been revealed, but she is described as young and beautiful, with a dowry of $2,500,000. She fell in love with Carpentier without having seen him, and immediately set out to win him.

She crossed the Atlantic with the declaration to her intimate friends that she would "make every effort to win Georges." She took a suite at the Ritz and lost no time in seeking an introduction to the pugilist.

When Carpentier went to England to fight Joe Beckett, the American girl followed and was an admiring spectator at the ringside when Carpentier knocked out Beckett in the first round. When Carpentier returned to the continent and went to the Riviera, the American girl was close behind.

At this time the handsome young pugilist was fully aware of the girl's intentions and he politely reminded her that he was married, but that his choice was "Georgette."

Georgette is Mlle. Georgette Blessner, the chanteuse of France, who has Dutch blood in her veins and her youthful beauty is set off by a mass of natural blonde hair. If the intricacies of the marriage laws and the attitude of Georgette's parents Carpentier is determined to defy the "thirteen hoodoo" and marry Mlle. Georgette on the thirteenth of this month.

French newspapers print laudatory articles on Jeff Smith's offer to box Carpentier and give the entire receipts to the French war fund for the blind and those permanently disabled in the war, but it is unlikely that the champion will accept.

LEAGUE SENATE TAKES UP SHANTUNG

Vote on Monroe Doctrine Shows Treaty Ratification Blocked Again

By International News Service.

Washington, March 3.—The Senate today tackled the sixth Lodge reservation, that withholding the assent of the United States to those provisions of the Peace Treaty which turned the Chinese province of Shantung over to Japan.

This reservation, like the rest of the original Lodge program, was voted down by a decisive margin by a majority vote composed mostly of Republicans, with enough Democratic Senators against it to demonstrate that ratification is still remote.

The long-disputed Lodge reservation to Article X, is to be taken up after all of the thirteen others have been acted on. This far four have been disposed of. The vote by which the preservation covering the Monroe Doctrine—55 to 22—was readopted will be regarded as a test of the renewed administration opposition to the reservations and to ratification.

The line-up of twenty-two administration Senators against a reservation intended to safeguard the Monroe Doctrine, a reservation the Republicans refused to accept, was considered a good illustration of how ratification is to be blocked again.

MOONSHINE SEIZED IN RAID; WOMAN HELD

Sues for $20,000,000 as Heart Balm

New York, March 3.—Mrs. Florence Steuben Gaines Harkness, widow of the late Harry S. Harkness, is named as defendant in a suit for $20,000,000 damages for alienation of affections, notice of which was filed in the office of the county clerk by attorneys for Mrs. Marie E. Cowan.

The suit involves what is believed to be the largest amount ever asked as heart balm.

Mrs. Cowan, who was the first wife of Edward Cowan, has obtained a divorce from him in 1916, alleges that while the defendant was still the wife of David Taylor Gaines, she and Harkness entered into a conspiracy to dissolve the marriage of the plaintiff's husband and to arrange a marriage between the defendant and Gaines, in order that the way might be cleared for the defendant to marry Harkness.

In accordance with this arrangement, asserts Harkness, it proceeded to treat her in such a way that "life became intolerable," and she was forced to sue for a divorce, which she obtained in 1916. And the defendant, Harkness, colluding with Gaines and Harkness," obtained a divorce from Gaines in 1917 and married Harkness two weeks later.

Mrs. Cowan also asserts that under the terms of a mutual will executed by herself and Harkness immediately after their marriage on November 3, 1916, Harkness left the entire estate to the other, she is legally entitled to the estate.

The suit filed today is the second brought by Mrs. Cowan against Mrs. Harkness since Harkness estate inside of two weeks.

TURKS TO START "HOLY WAR"

Will Set Orient Afire if They Lose Constantinople, Says Enver Pasha

London, March 3—Despite the warning of the allies the Turkish Nationalists continue enrolling troops, levying taxes and mounting the armistice," said a Reuter dispatch from Constantinople today.

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND, Boston American Staff Correspondent.

Berlin, March 2.—If the Turkish people lose Constantinople, their capital for 500 years and the seat of Mohammedanism, if the nation is broken up and denied the right of self-determination by the Christian powers, the "will and fate" of Moslem world aflame and there will be no peace in the Orient."

This is the statement made by Enver Pasha, national hero of Turkey and probably the most romantic figure in the Great War, who is now in the Caucasus; others that he had been made King of Kurdistan, and still others that he is in Turkestan, working with Lenine against India.

His letter, which was written in Turkish, with a German translation accompanying it, stipulated that the place of origin be kept secret. It was submitted to officials here who have had close connections with Enver and pronounced it authentic.

Turkish Empire Cut to 6,000,000 Population

Under the March 16 terms even powerful Ottoman Empire was finally reduced to dust by the Allied Supreme Council, which met in London to definitely restrict Turkey's future frontiers that they would contain a population of only 6,000,000—less than the population of Greater New York—as compared with Turkey's pre-war population of 30,000,000.

Practically the Turkish sway formerly extending from the Danube to the Red Sea, is now limited to a small portion of Asia Minor. At the same time the Sultan, titular successor to Mohamet the Prophet, will receive his entire income from circumscribed area in and around Constantinople, under the perpetual menace of English, French and Italian naval guns.

Following a long discussion with Admiral Earl Beatty, the council also determined to expel the Turkish army. The warships that are left to the Ottomans will be either scrapped or apportioned among the Allies.

JURY IN BURKE CASE DISAGREES

Three Oppose Conviction, and Foreman Reports Decision Is Hopeless

Skowhegan, Me., March 3.—With three jurors holding out against the conviction of John L. Burke, charged with the murder of Nelson W. Bartley, a disagreement was reported today. The jury was discharged.

W. R. Pattangall, attorney for Burke, announced at the close of the trial that he would start suit against the Bartley estate for payment of certain promissory notes which figured prominently in the evidence.

Condemn Kaiser for Not Dying in War

By International News Service

Berlin, March 3.—During a debate in the Prussian assembly on the final disposition of the Hohenzollern estates, the former Kaiser was severely criticized for not dying at the head of his troops in battle.

Majority Socialists charged him with "fleeing in the darkness and leaving his people to poverty."

The declaration was made that no one in Germany expects William to return.

The comment on the former Emperor's flight was made in the course of attacks against the proposal to compensate the Hohenzollern family for their estates that were seized.

UNIONS FAVOR KIMBALL BILL

40 Urge Taking Over of Gas, Electric and Water Power Companies by State

Forty Central Labor unions of this state today were recorded in favor of the Kimball bill to investigate the advisability of linking up all the gas, electric and water-power companies into a central unit to be controlled by the State.

"This means public ownership," said a member of the legislative Committee on Public Lighting.

"What of it?" replied William M. McMasters, the Boston writer.

"You believe in the railroads were operated efficiently?" said the committee man.

"Under the most adverse conditions ever known in this country, with a war on our hands, the railroads down and out, and the country generally unsettled, the country took over the railroads and won the war," said McMasters. "If it had been for State we might have been defeated.

"Regardless of how you feel, the tendency is toward public ownership. You don't hear of anyone coming up here to propose that we turn back our water systems or the public schools to private owners. The State is owned by the people."

Attorney Forest [illegible] and other attorneys for private lighting interests said that the bill was inexpedient."

Fined for Cruelty

Henry Saras of Neponset street, Dorchester, was fined $20 today in Dorchester Court for cruelty to a horse.

DALLINGER HITS AT CENSORSHIP

Congressman Tells Cambridge Workers Attorney-General Is a "Busybody"

Washington, March 2.—Representative Dallinger has received a resolution adopted by the Cambridge Central Labor Union, in which alarm is shown at the attempts to curtail and finally abolish the right of the people to freedom of thought, speech, press and assembly, to inviolability of person, and to representative government.

The organization condemns the action of the New York Assembly in suspending the five Socialists and the anti-sedition bills introduced in Congress. It demands the immediate resignation of Attorney-General Palmer, because of his insistence on anti-sedition legislation and because of his conduct since his coming into office.

MUST BE ON GUARD.

The Cambridge Congressman wrote the organization in reply:

"Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty and a duty devolves on the membership of your organization as good citizens to be ever watchful lest your liberties be curtailed, one by one, til you no longer know the meaning of that word.

"I am not a Socialist but view with growing disapproval all attempts at censorship by those of our population who would by intolerance and willful holding political and economic views diametrically opposed to those of the Socialist party, nevertheless I recognize the right of other individuals to have mental processes different from mine and the right of constituents to three responsibilities which mean. I processes differ from mine.

"It is for this reason, as you doubtless know, that I have publicly condemned the action of the New York Assembly in suspending five Socialist members for merely holding a Socialistic code."

MORAL AND LEGAL RIGHT.

"If charges against any Representative-elect, whether Socialist, Republican or Democrat, of an overt act of a disqualifying nature could be made and proved, then it would be a moral as well as a legal right for his exclusion from the New York Assembly.

"I was with surprise and indignation that I have read press reports of the action on the part of the Boston Central Labor Union censoring the action of the House of Representatives in the Socialist matter.

"Attempting to find a reason for this I have been forced to conclude that the Boston Central Labor Union has either not taken the pains to get knowledge of the reasons for the election of Berger, or that it has wilfully misrepresented the facts of disloyalty to his country. Being familiar for years with Mr. Berger's basis of organized labor, knowing personally many of the delegates to the Boston Central Labor Union, I cannot believe they were actuated by the latter motive.

"I note with pleasure your demand for the immediate resignation of Attorney-General Palmer, and in this demand let my voice be added to those of every one of your members. He is the chief source of national busyboddy.

"On him and the President he represents must be placed the blame for the high cost of living, the price of sugar to the American consumer. From ten and a quarter cents per pound retail he has boosted the price to twenty and more cents per pound, thus playing a burden of nearly a billion dollars annually on the people of the country.

KAHN CONFIDENT OF FUTURE OF EUROPE

New York, March 2.—Optimism regarding Europe's future was expressed by Otto H. Kahn, the well-known financier and philanthropist, as he boarded the Kaiserin with Mrs. Kahn to go abroad.

"The Old World has had some pretty hard knocks before," said Mr. Kahn, "but while it may take considerable time, conditions will again become normal. I don't expect that to take place right away. 'WET' LANDSLIDE IN VERMONT

200 Cities and Towns Vote in Favor of Licensing Sale of Liquor

Burlington, Vt., March 3—Annual elections throughout Vermont resulted in the greatest landslide for license in the history of the State.

Burlington, St. Albans, Montpelier, Barre, St. Johnsbury, Rutland, Bennington, Brandon and Middlebury went heavily wet. In Rutland county 23 out of 25 places went into the wet column, where only four had been previous to war-time prohibition. In Chittenden county, the largest county in the State, all but three of the places heard from had gone wet.

In Washington County, supposedly a stronghold of prohibition, more than one-half of the towns are wet. In St. Johnsbury the wet vote reached unheard of proportions, and many of the smaller places fell in line.

It is estimated this morning that nearly 200 of the 247 cities and towns in Vermont are wet. The most that ever voted wet previously were 90, and that was only for one year. The wet places in many years was not more than 20.

Famous Opera Star to Sing in Lynn

EVELYN SCOTNEY.

Evelyn Scotney fans, of whom there are thousands in Boston, are much interested in the news that she is to appear in Lynn next Sunday afternoon at 2:15, at the Olympic Theatre, in joint concert with Emilio de Gogorza.

This will be Mme. Scotney's only concert in New England this season. The former Boston Opera star is now one of the leading coloratura sopranos of the Metropolitan Opera company in New York, and has already scored a big success in the world's greatest opera house.

Mme. Scotney is singing only the biggest roles at the Metropolitan, having appeared in the coloratura parts of "La Juive" with Caruso, in "Lucia," "Rigoletto" and "Coe d'Or." She has been the star of two Sunday evening concerts at the Metropolitan.

SIX WOMEN TIRE OF HUSBANDS

Cruel Treatment and Intoxication Charges Figure in Divorce Suits

Six wives filed divorce suits in superior court at East Cambridge today. Two of the defendant husbands are accused of intoxication.

A romance that led to the altar on June 25, 1915, was shattered by cruel treatment, according to Mrs. Freda M. Collins of Boston. She also accuses Everett Collins of Lowell with non-support and asks custody of two children.

Mrs. Elsie Wheeler of Reading asks a divorce from Frank N. Wheeler of Millinocket, Me., charging desertion. They were married December 28, 1912, and Mrs. Wheeler now wants to resume her maiden name of Elsie White.

Mrs. Isabella O. Richards of Ayer charges Nelson P. Richards of Baltimore, Md., with non-support, cruel treatment and intoxication. They were married in Nashua, N. H., February 25, 1911. She wishes to resume her name, Isabelle O. Ferguson.

Mrs. Mary G. Hicks of Woburn sues David E. Hicks of Boston on grounds of cruel treatment, intoxication and desertion. They were married in Woburn, June 2, 1903.

Mrs. Myra Warner of Everett seeks divorce from Charles A. Warner because of his alleged cruelty. They married in Boston, November 24, 1911.

Mrs. Carmelo di Angeles of Framingham sues Archangelo di Angeles on grounds of cruel treatment. They married in Italy in December, 1913.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

"That is the joyful cry of thousands," says Dr. Edwards, "since I produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them ever night and so keep well. Try them. 10c and 25c

Washington, March 3.—Prohibition Commissioner Kramer announced today that hair tonic bars are due for a knockout. An order was issued that hereafter all barber supplies of high alcoholic content—toilet waters, hair tonics, etc.—must be doctored with emetics to make them unfit for human consumption.

ELLA WHEELER WILCOX
On Life Beyond the Grave
Letters of Poetess Reveal "Communications From the Spirit World"

(The following hitherto unpublished letters from America's greatest poetess to her favorite brother, Marcus P. Wheeler, Windsor, Wis., a Civil War veteran, constitute a remarkable human document. At one and the same time they set forth what she believed her certain knowledge of the life hereafter, based upon communications from her husband, Robert M. Wilcox, who died in 1916, and also very interesting sidelights on the daily life and views of this writer whose name is known to everyone who reads. These letters will be printed in daily instalments.)

Tours, France, June 11, 1918.

Dear Marcus:

I am still here and likely to be for an indefinite time. Just when I planned to go to Paris and on to England, hell broke loose again; and Paris and London both seem places to avoid. It is most curious, but early in May Robert's messages kept telling me I had better not wait till June to go to England—to go by May 15th.

But in all these occult matters I want my own judgment to supplement any advice I receive. I could not see why I should go May 15th. So I stayed on, and now I see why. But when he sent me so peremptorily from Paris he told why, and I wonder he did not tell me this time—yet there no here souls get part of an idea and not all of it at times. They have a larger outlook than we, but they, too, have their limitations.

Meantime since I came here wonderful things have happened to me and everything seems to be done in this world and in the other to help me. I enclose my decoration poem, which you may not see. I hope it has been published in America, however, before this.

I am wondering if Archie Wheeler is over here. I am sure he is not, as there is a bureau of statistics where you get the record of every man here. I had some boys I know looked up and located in less time than it takes to tell it. They found TWO Archie Wheelers, but one was from New York and one from Pennsylvania.

VISITS GAS VICTIMS

I have just been to the hospital and found a whole ward full of boys back from the front four days, all gassed. All were recovering. One had the deviliest mustard gas, which leaves horrible blisters and they take months to heal. What an invention of the devil! And to think decent nations have to turn to devils and fight back with the same weapons!

The other day I was at the station and saw a troop train come in. I went up and talked to a bunch of about one hundred boys as they sat on the big truck waiting for the train to start after they had had coffee and sandwiches. They said they were so happy to be going to the front. They had waited for a year for this day. I asked where they were from in America. They replied, "We are all on this train from Wisconsin." I told them who I was, and there was a great social time after that.

After they pulled out waving their caps and smiling, we turned and saw a hospital train had pulled in, just from the front. We saw a dozen carried in in stretchers to the hospital. All were French on that train. I talked with many of them. They were so brave and smiling, but every man was wounded. It seemed strange the two trains should have met there.

CRAZY TO BE BACK.

These gassed boys at the hospital were crazy to get back to the war zone again. Two airmen who had dislocated their necks were recovering and both said they would be flying soon again. They said I could never understand the fascination of flying until I tried it.

Another interesting thing happened. A doctor at the hospital says he had had a letter yesterday from a soldier boy in Dijon, who said the most wonderful and uplifting thing which had happened to him in France was meeting Ella W. W.—that I had been such a help to him. I have no idea which boy it was of the thousands I met.

That made me laugh again at the people who were opposed to my coming—telling me there was no food or place or work for me here and I had better stay at home. One young woman was most impertinent about it. When she was told I would find many people here interested in my poems she said it was the world to get along very well without poetry.

I have had the pleasure of writing her mother-in-law, who reads her all my letters, the wonderful experiences I have had with the soldiers, and sent my publishers' letter which said my books sold better since the war than ever, and that many soldiers took no books with them to the war save one of mine!

ROBERT SENDS MESSAGE.

Here is something curious, too. I was just beginning to take more X-ray treatments in Paris, as I thought it best, when I came away after two. At Dijon I could not find any doctor who gave the rays. My trouble I wrote you about seemed to be returning to some extent. I expected to be under my friend's care in London, who is the head of that work there. Then when I came here I made inquiries and was told there was nothing doing here, my need of it seemed to increase. So when I found I was not going to Paris and even New York in August seemed doubtful. I was a bit disturbed, and that special road to exit from earth I did not want to tread.

Well, Robert sent me a message saying to keep my faith and the way would be shown to me for help. "See a good doctor; help will be given to you; I am watching over you." was the message.

FEELS MUCH YOUNGER.

That was yesterday. Today while visiting the hospital it occurred to me to ask there about X-rays, though I had been told there was no deep penetration work done—only examinations. I saw the head of the department and told my story. He said, "This is very strange, indeed; I am just going to see the greatest specialist in our work and I know he has a deep penetration apparatus. I will call at the hotel later and tell you all about it." He has just been here and I am to begin treatment tomorrow. He is calling for me in his car; he said I need not give the matter a second thought. My trouble would be absolutely arrested, and doubtless cured.

Two specialists in New York said I had nothing to fear, but if the trouble reappeared to take the ray treatment at once just to prevent any possible annoyance. I feel about one hundred years younger and as light as a feather since this irritating anxiety has been lifted. Robert always looked so carefully after my health when here, and now it is very beautiful to have the proof of his continuous care.

A tea is being given me day after tomorrow by the Marquise de Rochambeau. I wrote verses about her presenting a flag to a camp named for her family and she is delighted. She called with her three daughters yesterday and you should see the way the hotel people on leaned after Count Rochambeau was with Lafayette and Washington and helped save us in the Revolution. It is a very distinguished old family. Her two splendid sons have gone in this war—killed.

The frightful havoc is now going on and it is all I can do to bear the thought of it. Surely an end must come soon. I saw a soldier on the street today, laughing and chatting with his friend, and both arms off above the elbow. Eight hundred wounded Americans went to one hospital last week.

Good-by for this time.

ELLA.

Stocks Irregular in New York at Noon; Call Money Renews at 10%; Sterling Exchange Lower

RAILS WEAKEN BEFORE NOON

Many Leading Carriers Show Substantial Losses; Market Dull

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor

Stocks were irregular in New York at noon, with the majority of leaders showing losses. Rails were the second hour feature, receding as a class and with a number declining a point or more.

Among the weakest carriers were Reading, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, New Haven, Canadian Pacific, Rock Island, St. Louis and San Francisco and Texas and Pacific. The market was dull, first hour transactions totalling but 137,000 shares. Call money renewed at 10 per cent. The preliminary rate for demand sterling was $4.12½, unchanged from the close.

OPENED WITH ADVANCES.

The market had a quiet opening, the majority of issues advancing on initial sales. But the upward movement was slight and not long continued. Short covering was the main cause of the rise. Very little buying was credited to outsiders. Early trading was of decidedly professional character. At the start price change averaged small. Losses were fractional and largest gains were not much over a point. Within a few minutes the market improved. General Motors, Crucible, Mexican Petroleum and Texas Co. showing from two or more points gain. Prices eased off without loss of an hour, however, and hesitancy marked movements. Traders were awaiting news or developments which would establish a trend. At the end of an hour prices ruled above the opening and the tone was rather strong. Shipping issues were higher, while Tobacco Products, American and Woolen common were off about three points.

BULLS WERE ENCOURAGED.

Bulls were a little encouraged by the action of the market yesterday and this morning. Considering that it has been in the hands of professionals who are bearish on a crisis, the way prices have been maintained under strong pressure is believed to indicate that the market had a good deal of underlying strength and has been receiving quiet support from some powerful interests. Liquidation is halted evidently, if not over. Selling which has been imprinted in certain quarters seems to have ceased. A broad covering movement was predicted by bulls today.

MONEY SITUATION UNCHANGED.

The money situation was said to be easier and the recent steadiness of foreign exchange has promoted confidence. Much interest will be taken in coming national bank reports. Comptroller of the Currency Williams has issued a call for a report as to their condition as of February 25. This is the only country in the world which is reducing its national debt. The U. S. Treasury Department announces that $264,083,387 was paid out last month and that the debt totalled $25,404,331,797 on March 1.

SUGAR RECEIPTS ARE ON THE INCREASE

Sugar receipts increased this year, according to statistics by the American Sugar Bulletin. MORE GOLD MILLIONS FOR SOUTH AMERICA

South America continues to drain gold from this country, engagements of coin in New York for shipment to the Southern part of that continent amounting to several millions of dollars. The next shipment will be within a few days. The Federal Reserve Bank system has lost $152,000,000 in gold in the past three months.

The gold that has left this country in the last fourteen months has gone far. The Orient has taken $240,000,000 and South America $115,000,000. A year ago the Federal Reserve system had $600,000,000 in gold in excess of required reserves. Now the excess amounts to about $210,000,000.

Output by Copper Mines

Chile production for January was 7,500,000 pounds of copper, while the Anaconda output amounted to 14,100,000. Last month Anaconda's production was 13,500,000 pounds. Chile figures for February not at hand.

Boston & Maine Earnings

The Boston and Maine Railroad reports to the Interstate Commerce Commission that its gross increased $1,332,791, as compared with gross for the corresponding 1919 year, and the net operating deficit decreased $61,188 to $116,667.

Charters Granted Last Month

During February this year 246 new corporations obtained Massachusetts charters. The high record was established in January this year when incorporations in this State totalled 330.

Corporation Earnings

Corporation earnings for 1919 have been reported as follows:

American Cigar net of $2,175,790 equal to $15.25 a share on common, against $2,318,882, or $17.18 a share in 1918.

United Profit-Sharing Corporation net, before Federal taxes of $800,000 on $400,587 stock, of practically 100 per cent.

Lee, Inc. net after Federal taxes of $1,146,684.

Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Cincinnati & St. Louis Railroad, net after all charges of $503,725, against $4,729,979 in 1918.

Willys Corporation total profits of $3,954,683.

BOOSTED RENT AT EACH BIRTH

Lawrence Tenants Charge Owners Raised Cost 200 P.C. at State Board Hearng

Lawrence, March 3.—Charges that Lawrence landlords raised the rent every time a baby was born to a tenant, and that the perpetual re-selling of property led to inevitable advances in rent, were brought out at a lively hearing on rent profiteering conducted by the State Commission on the Necessaries of Life in the City Hall.

Instances were cited by tenants where their rents had been raised as high as 200 per cent. The next step in the probe may lead to the summoning of local landlords to the State House, together with their account books for inspection. It has been suggested that a local committee take up the differences between property owner and tenant.

NO REPAIRS ON FLAT.

Samuel Bramsall, prominent in radical labor circles, related alleged mistreatment on the part of a landlord to whom he had sold his property.

Albert Plant, No. 63 Margin street, who lives in a six-tenement block owned by Max Golden, said he had been raised from $2.25 a week to $3.50. John Hlanch of No. 144 Arlington street, received a raise in rent from $2.70 to $4. No repairs were made in his four-room tenement, he said.

J. J. Flanagan, No. 61 High street, an ex-service man, said he was raised from $4 to $6 a week for a four-room tenement, had no cellar and no use of back stairs. He charged his landlord, J. W. Merrill, who lives in the same house, with shutting off the heat.

He told the commission that his wife's sister lay dead when the notice of the boost of rent was brought. His landlord disclaimed knowledge of the death. When asked by the commission about the lack of cellar room the landlord replied: "Hasn't the tenant got two closets. What's he want a cellar for? I wish I had raised him $1 more."

MAY RAISE RENT AGAIN.

"You won't make any further advances will you," asked the chairman. "I make no promises," replied the landlord.

Mrs. H. Charbeneau, No. 1 Acton street, said her rent was raised from $3.50 per week to $5.75.

Because a new baby came the rent was raised from $5 to $8 per week. John F. McRobbie, a street car conductor, testified. He has two furnished rooms at No. 3 Merrimack street.

William Zazour spoke for 100 Syrian families in the vicinity of Elm street who lived in houses "not fit for dogs" and who were the prey of alleged rent hogs.

Robert Johnson was raised from $3 to $5 per week in a six-tenement block. He cited that the last raise occurred when he had his coal in.

MAYOR TO AID WOMAN.

Frank Garneau, speaking for his mother, said that she was raised from $4.25 to $9 a week as the landlord counted six plates on the table.

Chairman Charles H. Adams advised one complainant to refuse to pay her rent till she had received a receipt.

The case of a house which had changed hands four times since October was cited.

Mark Woolley, a tenant on this property, pays $8 a week against a former rental of $4 a week. She appealed to the city authorities to investigate the alleged unhealthful conditions of her tenement. Mayor White, who called the hearing, offered to act as the woman's attorney if she was summoned to court about the payment of rent.

Max Golden, a landlord, said he raised the rent because his tenant was "fresh."

Mayor White cautioned tenants that it was better to cheat the landlord and pay the mover in a choice between the two.

Foreign Securities

The low price—in dollars—of Sterling, Francs, Lire and Marks has brought to American investors an unparalleled opportunity for profit. The bonds of England, France, Belgium, Italy and Germany, worth approximately par in the money of these countries, can be bought for from two-thirds to one-sixteenth of their normal value in dollars, as will be seen from the following table:

	Approximate price per 1000-Franc or Lira Bond	Approximate value when Franc and Lira return to normal	Profit
5% French Victory Loan	$65	$174	$109
5% Belgian Restoration Loan	74	193	119
5% Fifth Italian War Loan	52	193	141

	Approximate price per 1000-Mark Bond	Approximate value when Mark return to normal	Profit
4% City of Berlin	$15.	$232	$217
4½% Hamburg	15.50	238	222
4½% Bremen	15.50	238	222

No well informed person believes that this condition—disturbing alike to Europe, the United States and the world at large—can endure. Statesmen, financiers and business men throughout the world are alive to the seriousness of the situation and are employing every means in their power to discover corrective measures. That these efforts will eventually succeed is a foregone conclusion. Consequently it is merely a matter of time, and the time will probably be short, when exchange will again approach normal.

A return to normal of the Franc and Lira would show profits of about 167%, 160% and 270%, respectively, in addition to interest, on the purchase of these bonds at prevailing prices.

Should the Mark regain its pre-war value a 100,000-Mark Bond, costing $1500 today, would be worth about $23,200. Marks at one-fourth normal (6 cents) would mean a profit of $5,350 on an investment of $1500.

These bonds have an established value in the money of the countries in which they are issued, enable their holders to reap the full benefit of any advance in price of Francs, Lire or Marks, the same as would ownership of actual currency, bear interest and are readily marketable.

Prices of these securities change from day to day, as exchange rates fluctuate, but above quotations may be used in making remittances. Immediately upon receipt of your order we will render a statement showing balance due us, or refund due you. Should you be dissatisfied with the price at which we can furnish these bonds we will gladly return your money in full upon proper notice within two days of receipt by you of our statement.

We shall be pleased to quote exact price by telephone or telegraph at our expense.

We advise the immediate purchase of these securities, as exchange rates will hardly be lower, and probably will be much higher in the near future.

Full information on request.

Royal Treasury Five-Year 6½% Gold Bonds (Series A)

Dated February 1, 1920 Due February 1, 1925.

Principal and interest payable in New York in United States Gold coin, or, at the option of the holder, principal payable in Rome in lire at the fixed rate of seven lire per dollar

Principal and interest payable without deduction for any Italian taxes, present or future

Coupon bearer bonds in denominations of $50, $100, $500, $1,000 and $5,000 which may be registered as to principal at the Lincoln Trust Company, New York City.

Application will be made to list the bonds on the New York Stock Exchange.

The proceeds of the Loan will be used by the Italian Government in payment for purchases made in the United States, which purchases will aid greatly in the industrial and economic development of Italy. To this end a national policy of rigorous economy has already been adopted.

The privilege of taking payments, at maturity, in Rome at the fixed rate of seven lire to the dollar adds to a sound and conservative investment the possibility of a substantial profit in exchange.

In this connection it should be pointed out that the recent successful flotation of a large domestic loan by the Italian Government and the increase in the activity of Italian enterprises give substantial evidence of the likelihood of a return of the exchange situation to a more normal basis.

Boston Market Firm During Morning

PRICES UP IN DULL MARKET

Strong Tone in Boston at Opening and Later; Curb Oils Improve

The Boston market had a strong tone at the opening, but was exceedingly quiet. These conditions prevailed throughout the morning. The advance of United Fruit was a feature. It opened unchanged and by mid-morning was up five points. It made the gain on a few transactions. Among other strong stocks were Eastern Manufacturing, Mexican Investment, St. Mary's Land, Wolverine, U. S. Smelting and Waltham Watch. All were up a point each. Very little demand sends a stock up. Offerings were scanty.

Among issues to make smaller gains during the forenoon were Massachusetts Gas, West End, National Leather, Elder, Wickwire, Waldorf and Superior & Boston. Davis-Daly advanced a trifle only, although a Butte dispatch stated that drifting on the 2,700-foot level in his mine had opened a body of glance and bornite ore estimated to average 8 per cent. copper.

Among issues to decline a point or more were New Haven and Stewart. Fractional losses were sustained by United Shoe, New Cornelia and North Butte.

TIP TOP A CURB LEADER.

Trading on the Curb was quiet at the start and during the morning. The price trend was irregular. Most changes were smaller. High priced oils showed a little improvement. Arizona Tip Top continued to fluctuate rapidly. It continued to be downward.

Gains at the opening were made by Arizona Extension, Arizona Silver, Gilliland, Gulfport, White Oil and Texana, while issues to recede included Simms Petroleum, Mutual Trust, Bagdad, Boston and Montana, Atlas Tack and Tip Top.

At 11 o'clock Gilliland was up 1 at 42, White Oil ¼ at 29½, and Texana 4 cents at 36 cents. Among losses were Simms Petroleum ½ at 24, Tip Top 4 cents at 13 cents, Bagdad 10 cents at 13 cents and Crystal 5 cents at 35 cents.

IT'S WHITE AND 90c

Some of our readers are puzzled to see the price of NEW SAFETY PAPER advance 10 points at a time. You think "it looks funny"; but you wouldn't think so if you investigated and got at the facts. Then you would learn that what makes it go up is the cash coming in and giving more value to the shares. There is something funny about NEW SAFETY PAPER, just as you think. IT GOES UP AND STAYS UP; it doesn't go down like Great Gambles on Greased Toboggans. That's why it's funny. That's why IT'S WHITE to the people who buy it.

Did you ever have that unique—that funny—feeling of buying shares in anything and seeing it go up—and up—and up—and keep go down? Well say you never did but YOU MAY, if you will join the 600 who are constantly realizing that "funny feeling" from having bought NEW SAFETY PAPER.

You know IT'S WHITE. The occurrences of the past week have resulted in doubling our 1st year's estimate. We thought 200% was about right but we underestimated the demand. Now we have to say 600% the 1st year and 1000% the 2d. This means that the value of the shares must increase to about $10 next year. Selling for a few days longer @ 90c you can see why it can't go down. The amount of business in sight and the demand for the Paper, is the reason; but the COLOR is the thing—IT'S WHITE.

Better call at our office, at once, and take advantage of present price as well as the gain of the next advance which is surely coming soon. Office open evenings.

BARA PLEASING IN 'BLUE FLAME'

Gives Skilful Performance in Novel Play, Surrounded by Excellent Cast

By FREDERICK JOHNS.

Theda Bara gave Boston a chance last night at the Majestic Theatre to judge the drama of the spoken word against that of the screen.

The famous movie star appeared in a drama entitled, "The Blue Flame," a new play in four acts by George V. Hobart and John Willard, founded on Leita Vance Nicholson's play of the same title.

Those attracted by Miss Bara's acquired reputation as the "vamp" of the screen, who came to scoff, remained to pray; those who came to forget Miss Bara as the screen star and to welcome her as an actress in the legitimate found much in her performance to praise.

The production is splendidly staged and portrayed by a well-balanced company.

The play itself deals with an experimenter with violet rays, whose invention is to restore life after death. Obsessed with his theory, the experimenter derides religion and God until he has become a confirmed agnostic.

To rid him of his infidelity, he is forced through a dream to see the logical results of such a power wielded by a godless man. When his family and home lies lie buried in the crash that follows the working out of his theory, he happily awakes to find it all in a dream.

The thought of the play is based on solid foundations rather largely conceived. If there is any weakness, it might be said to mushroom through the supernatructure. A judicious polishing will add to the finish of the production.

Allan Dinehart as John Varnum gave Miss Bara splendid support, as did Helen Curry as Cicely Varnum, and Donald Gallaher as Larry Winston, the cocaine addict. Two New York policemen furnish a relieving bit of comedy. The play is well worth an evening at the Majestic.

CANTEEN PAYS 'DIVIDEND'

Original Subscribers for Building on Common Refunded 19 P. C. of Contribution

The board of trustees of the Boston Army and Navy Canteen on Boston Common today sent out checks to the original subscribers to this war activity, amounting to 19 per cent. of their contribution.

The canteen is said, by many of the soldiers and sailors who enjoyed its hospitality, to have been the most homelike and best operated in the country.

The trustees wish again to thank publicly all those who originally subscribed the $32,000 for the building and operation of the canteen.

The statement reads in part:

"The Boston Army and Navy Canteen on the Boston Common is now a glorious memory. During its existence it was a real home to the men in service; 242,193 meals were served.

"After disposing of the property and paying all expenses, a balance remained in the treasury, which the trustees voted to return to the donors."

The Board of Trustees comprises: Felix Vorenberg, chairman; Alfred L. Aiken, treasurer; Thomas W. Murray, secretary; Victor A. Heath, Miss Mary A. Barr, Mrs. Evelyn Peverly Cox, Mrs. George R. Fearing, Jr., Robert S. Weeks, George W. Milton, James C. McCormick, Miss Julia C. Pendergast, R. M. Saltonstall, Miss Bertha Stevenson, Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer.

Only one subscription was called for (at the outset) and $32,500 was received. From the sale of food and cigars there was received $62,454 and from the interest and miscellaneous sources $6,926, making the total income $104,710. Under the "outlay" are these items: Cost of building, $22,413, less recovery from sale of property, $5,832; net cost $16,580; uniforms for employes, $597; cost of food and cigars, $50,463; miscellaneous expenses, $14,594; payroll and other costs, $16,235; cash on hand, $6,239; total, $104,710.

TO RECOUNT VOTE IN ARLINGTON ELECTION

A recount of the votes cast for selectmen at Arlington's town election will be made. Timothy F. Collins, candidate for the office for three years, was defeated by Charles B. Devereaux, the vote being 820 to 819.

The Brooks Appliance clings to you without force and you are hardly conscious of its presence. But above all else, it HOLDS always.

Within an hour after you receive the Brooks Appliance, if you take advantage of this remarkable trial offer, you will throw away your truss forever.

Over 685,000 People Have Accepted This Offer. Why Not You?

Doesn't that prove that the Brooks Appliance is not an experiment but a positive success—that it does all we claim for it? Among these 685,000 men, women and children there must be hundreds whose condition was identical with yours. Can you afford not to investigate and satisfy yourself when it costs you nothing to prove what the Brooks Appliance will do for you?

This wonderful device is a triumph of scientific and mechanical genius, the outcome of more than 30 years' experience,

Mr. C. E. Brooks, Inventor of the Appliance. Mr. Brooks healed himself of rupture over 30 years ago and patented the Appliance from his personal experience. If ruptured, write TODAY to the Brooks Appliance Company, Marshall, Michigan.

and the results accomplished by its use are little short of miraculous.

Many hundreds of physicians and surgeons recommend the Brooks Appliance and condemn makeshift trusses as more harmful and dangerous than any other method of retaining and treating rupture. Thousands of people have written us testifying to the amazing results they have secured from this great invention. Many of these people live right in your vicinity and we will be glad to send you copies of their thankful letters if you will ask for them when you write.

Men, Women and Children Find the Brooks Appliance Equally Effective

No matter if your rupture is old and severe or only recently developed, no matter if you are young or old, you should not fail to profit by this No-Risk Trial Offer.

No other rupture support, truss, lock, device, pad or plaster is offered to the public under so broad a guarantee of satisfaction.

If for any reason whatever you do not wish to keep the Brooks Appliance after you try it, send it back. You don't have to give any reason. You are to be the sole judge. There will be no argument, no dispute or misunderstanding.

Ten Reasons Why You Should Accept This Offer

1. It is absolutely the only Appliance embodying the principle that inventors have sought after for years.

2. The Appliance for retaining the rupture cannot be thrown out of position.

3. Being an air cushion of soft rubber it clings closely to the body, yet never blisters or causes irritation.

4. Unlike ordinary so-called pads, it is not cumbersome or ungainly.

5. It is small, soft and pliable, and positively cannot be detected through the clothing.

6. The soft, pliable bands do not give the unpleasant sensation of wearing a harness.

7. Nothing to get foul; it can be washed without any injury.

8. There are no metal springs in the Appliance to torture one by cutting and bruising the flesh.

LABOR BETTER OFF THAN EVER

Federal Reserve Board Reports Conditions Best in U. S. History

Washington, March 3.—Labor occupies a more stable position now than at any other period in the country's history, the Federal Reserve Board declared today in summing up employment conditions. Unfavorable aspects are found only in the tendency toward restriction of output by industries in some districts.

A scarcity of labor exists in many districts, particularly agricultural sections. The farm labor shortage in the Southwest is acute.

Largely increased forces of men are being employed in the Eastern districts. Factories are reported approaching capacity production, with increasing demand for skilled labor.

FINAL RITES HELD FOR JAMES L. BLACKMER

The funeral of James L. Blackmer, a Boston business man, was held this afternoon at No. 2.9 Massachusetts avenue, Lexington. The service was conducted by Rev. Carlton F. Mills, rector of the Church of Our Redeemer. The Masonic bodies were represented. The burial was at Oak Grove cemetery, Medford.

Don't Spoil Your Hair By Washing It

When you wash your hair, be careful what you use. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fluffy, looking bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. Advertisement

Brookline, 'Dry' Since 1886, Goes 'Wet'

Brookline, "dry" since 1886, has deserted the prohibition ranks. It voted on the question of licenses at the town election as follows: Yes 1443, No 1093. The same question last year was voted on as follows: Yes, 259, No, 396.

The following Selectmen were elected: George R. Baldwin, Walter J. Cusick, Burton W. Neal, Philip R. Parker and Earnest B. Dane. David Church, William J. Love and James V. Duffy were elected auditors.

REPORT CLEW TO HEIRESS

Counsel for De Kay Family, However, Believes Missing Young Woman Is Dead

Providence, March 2.—In spite of a report that a clew has been found to the whereabouts of Jeanne Anna De Kay, the heiress who disappeared from Hull House, Chicago, last December, Judge Thomas Z. Lee, counsel for the family, declared here today that in his belief the young woman was dead. In response to a dispatch from a detective agency at Toledo, that efforts to trace the missing girl were believed to have been partially successful, Judge Lee wired for further particulars.

He declined, however, to agree with reports at Hull House, who declared that when the girl left she had taken her belongings with her, and expressing the belief that she had committed suicide.

The Caldwell faction had charged Duncan was a leading spirit in the general strike that tied up Seattle last year.

THIS is the anniversary of the bestowing of the rank of admiral, in 1899, on George Dewey, as appreciation of his victory over the Spanish fleet in Manila Bay. It was Dewey's initiative and cutting of red tape that accomplished the surrender of the Philippines. Admiral Dewey died in 1917.

Milk From Cocoanuts

ALONG the Orange River natives have an ingenious way of producing "milk." After cutting the top from a cocoanut they place it over ashes so that the warmth may cause the fat and "butter" contained in the husk to be absorbed by the milk; this changes the milk's quality and gives it a palatable taste.

The Widow's Lorgnette

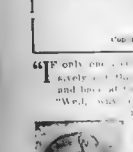
By HELEN ROWLAND

The Ideal Husband

Copyright, 1920, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.

"IF only one could marry an idealist," sighed the Widow, gazing pensively through the French windows at the slender new moon and hoping she looked dancing in the half-dusk.

"Well, why don't you?" inquired the Bachelor. "I am an idealist—"



And not married!" was the laconic reminder. "Idealists don't marry often."

"But I don't want to marry often," protested the Bachelor.

"You don't want to marry at all!" The Widow laughed, softly and shook her red-gold head. "No wonder nobody ever inspires you to make love to a woman! If you're so hard to please and inspire her, and [illegible] will all find and to [illegible] gross, [illegible] all marry her and support her [illegible] to start the furnace for her [illegible] daughter wouldn't make an ideal husband—all by [illegible]. It's a wonderful one, rainy afternoons with a volume of Keats or [illegible] moonlight evenings by the sea, when one felt [illegible] and awfully spiritual—"

"But he'd be apt to get on your nerves on house-cleaning days, and morning days, and [illegible] and on the first of the month when the bills come in," suggested the Bachelor.

"Yes," agreed the Widow, brightly. "On all practical occasions he'd have to be superseded [illegible] days, too, when one wanted a change, or [illegible] a train to and yearned to be amused rather than [illegible]. He probably would not know how to run a motor-car, or to order a dinner properly. And he'd bring you [illegible] to feed your soul, when you were longing for terrapin [illegible] a new set of furs."

"Poor [illegible] Bachelor, dry!" But oh, ho, the girl who is tied to a Romeo or a Lochinvar or a Byron must long for an honest John Jones or an old Captain Dobbin—just for a rest and a little peace of mind!"

"She's a cheer-up, the Widow, 'with all her heart'!" That's why Xantippe [illegible] our Socrates. Instead of listening to her quaint epigrams, and [illegible] [illegible] somebody to bring in the coal and help mend the clothes. Or, perhaps she was dreaming of a Marc Antony or a Byron, or a Beau Brummel, somebody who could wear his clothes properly and whisper tender nothings instead of chattering dry old philosophy. But it's never safe to argue in any man that the image he sees in the mirror doesn't embrace Milady's wife's ideals and fulfil all her romantic dreams. If it did, he might sometimes try to be a little more sentimental or entertaining. Any woman would really rather find all her ideals in one husband."

"What kind of husband would YOU choose?" exclaimed the Bachelor impulsively, if you had a choice this afternoon."

"Oh, this afternoon," laughed the Widow, "YOU'D DO."

"What?"

"A combination of Lord-and-Van Rubber-Voltaire-and-Mr. Carter!" explained the Widow. "But by tomorrow I shall probably be sighing for a David Harum or an Omar Khayyam."

"But," protested the Bachelor, "Mr. Carter was the 'Eternal Bachelor'!"

"So were you," declared the Widow, between a laugh and a sigh. "You may get as far as the church door some day—but you'll turn and run at the first sound of a wedding bell!"

Bad Luck?

By NELL BRINKLEY

Copyright, 1920, by International Feature Service, Inc.

THEY say peacock feathers are unlucky. But they're not for this chap. "Here's a peacock who knows better," suggests one who likes the demon the soldier wears on a shoulder with a silver bullet, and his own overcoming terribly because the world mocks at and pities the lame. There are a few little particular things I know, before you go with a doubtful question-mark. But I will not tell them right now because I am sitting and feeling funny and not like telling you things that lie warm next to my heart. But if I ever did believe in the wicked ill-luck of the jewelry feathers of the stately bird who cries, 'Oh, Ill-hall! Oh, Bill! Oh, Ill-hill!' I do not now. For what is good luck if it is not a gold and blue girl saying 'yes' and lifting soft lips, giving her hands to the close clasp of yours, sliding soft shoulders and silken hair against dark dress coat, a pearock fan to hide you from the world, and a thin silver cycle of a moon set in the soft night sky, looking in?

"What's in a Name?"

Facts about your name; its history; its meaning; whence it was derived; its significance; your lucky day and jewel.

Hilda

OF splendid old Norse lineage is Hilda. The chief of the Valkyror was Hildur, and the names of Hild and Hillda were given to other war maidens. Hilda is said to signify "battle" by a literal translation, which probably means "warlike spirit" under a broader interpretation.

The Teutonic world claims the name and insists that it means "support," giving it to one of their principal war maidens. The real origin seems difficult to settle upon, but it is generally conceded that Hilda and peace are not synonymous.

For a time Hilda was one of the commonest terminations to feminine names in the Teutonic world, and gradually the word came to mean "maiden" and was used interchangeably. It was much used in the North of England also, where the Deiran princess, Hildur, became the holy abbess. Hilda of Whitby, succeeding St. Begga, and leaving a reputation for sanctity.

Though Clara de Clare could not see it, a vision of the holy abbess can be seen under certain conditions of light in the Whitby chapel today, the ammonites which are believed to have been serpents turned to stone at the prayer of the abbess are also there. Around Whitby Hilda is still the most popular of feminine names, in honor of the holy woman who bore it.

The mother of Rolf Ganger was the Norwegian Hildur. Indeed, the name has confined itself largely to the peoples of the North. It suggests the splendid strength of the Valkyrie; the romance of the landing melancholy of the gothic races. It is one of the few names without diminutives or derivatives.

Coral is the jewel assigned to those who bear the name of Hilda if they would have health and prosperity. The deep pink stone has therapeutic qualities; it shares the vitality of the wearer to such an extent that it is supposed to pale or grow more vivid, according as its owner is possessed by weakness or good health. It is also used to stop the flow of blood from wounds. Safety for travelers is the promise of coral. Tuesday is the lucky day for its wearer and three the lucky number.

MANHOLE EXPLOSIONS SHAKE SOUTH END

Nine manholes along conduits of the Boston Elevated cables in Tremont and West Springfield streets blew up with a rumble that could be heard for blocks.

The explosions were along the line of conduits extending down Tremont street from Northampton and on West Springfield street, between Columbus and Shawmut avenues, and were caused by short circuits. Gas had accumulated in the conduits and ice covering the vents in the manhole covers prevented it from escaping.

Relieve Your Rheumatism For 25c.

NR does it by improving digestion, assimilation and elimination—the logical way.

NR Today—Relief or No Pay

There are three vital processes of human existence,—the digestion of food, the extraction of nourishment from it and the elimination of the waste.

Let anything interfere with these processes,—let them be interrupted or improperly carried on, and sickness of some kind follows.

Poor digestion and assimilation means failure to derive full nourishment from food and that in turn often means impoverished blood, weakness, anemia, etc. Poor elimination means an accumulation of waste matter which poisons the body, lowers vitality, decreases the power of resistance to disease and leads to the development of many serious ills.

Rheumatism,—due to some interference with the process of elimination, failure to get rid of certain body poisons,—cannot be expected to yield to any medicine that fails to correct the condition responsible for it. Could any reasonable person expect to rid rheumatic poison is allowed to remain in the body.

Think of this. It explains the success of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) in so many cases where other medicines have failed. Thousands are using NR Tablets every day and getting relief. Why pay five or ten times as much for uncertain things? A 25c box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets), containing enough to last twenty-five days,—must help you, must give you prompt relief and satisfactory benefit or cost you nothing.

And Nature's Remedy is not only for the relief of rheumatism. It improves digestion, tones the liver, regulates kidney and bowel action, improves the blood and cleanses the whole system. You'll feel like a new person when you've taken NR Tablets a week. You've tried the expensive medicines and doctors, now make the real test. You'll get results this time. HUB AUTO SHOW RECORD EVENT

Scores of Exhibitors on "Waiting List"—Y. D. Club to Get Share of Profits

The Hub Auto Show, which opens Saturday, March 13, bids fair to be the greatest exhibition of its kind that Boston has seen. Not only in point of number of exhibitors, but in the value of the exhibits this show is expected to surpass all others.

The value of the passenger cars, trucks and accessories in place at the million dollars, and Chester L. Campbell, who has managed the show from its inception, states that the space of all the exhibitors at the end of the show will show aggregate sales amounting to $10,000,000.

It is Boston's greatest business week. The hotels have already been booked to capacity and thousands who will be in Boston that week are forced to resort to lodging houses and homes of friends. The restaurants and theatres, department stores and the retail merchant generally do a tremendous business. The man who comes here to buy a car is usually a man of means. He invariably brings along his wife and spends to the limit. Millions are dropped into the coffers of the Boston merchants as the result of the Boston Automobile Show.

The 450 exhibitors just transfer their business from their automobile salesrooms to the show during the time that it is on. There is a telephone in every exhibit and the Back Bay telephone station has a special "exchange" with twelve girls that are rushed at top speed handling the calls for the auto show.

Mr. Campbell, manager of the show, which opens in Mechanics Building and the Irvington Street (South) Armory, has announced that the entire net profits from space sold to exhibitors in the Irvington street Armory would go to the Yankee Division Clubhouse Fund. As every available foot of space in the huge armory has been sold it will net quite a sum to the Y. D. fund.

Monday ago it became apparent that the Boston Auto Show had outgrown Mechanics Building. Mr. Campbell then applied to the State Armory Commission for the use of the Irvington Street Armory. At the time the Y. D. campaign for funds was on and he suggested that if the commission was agreeable the entire proceeds from the armory section of the show would be given to the fund. Upon this condition the armory was secured.

More than a hundred manufacturers of passenger cars, trucks and accessories are still on the "waiting list" for space, but there is faint hope for getting space for them. The show as now outlined will be the most colossal exhibit of motor cars, trucks and accessories ever displayed in this country.

MAGUIRE LAUDS FLORIDA ROADS

Boston Pierce-Arrow Distributor Returns From Enjoyable Vacation in South

J. W. Maguire, the local Pierce-Arrow distributor, recently returned from Florida where he has been since January 15. Mr. Maguire states the golfing was fine and that one thing which every motorist enjoys is the fine roads which now traverse most of the State.

"It is quite simple to lay roads down there," says Mr. Maguire, "as the cement, brick or asphalt is put right on top of the sand roads and kept in place by stone curbing. Stones at the side. As there is no frost, of course, this is possible and a great many of the finest roads are asphalt."

However, Mr. Maguire was glad to get back to Boston although the change in climate right now was rather noticeable.

MAGIC TIP TO AUTOISTS STUCK IN ROAD HOLES

If the car gets in a hole where one wheel spins around and no traction can be obtained, the slip wheel firmly to the frame with a piece of rope or line (string has you can then get traction with the other and small quantities of the hole. Of course this puts an unusual strain on the differential, so go slowly and gently and do not speed the motor too much.

ASK MR. FIXIT

Mr. Fixit: I am a regular reader of your valuable paper and I have noticed that you always answer and let somebody needy something. The only marks on it are two little dots. Can you tell me what it is and if the tires is still doing business in Boston? If so, I would like to get it repaired. D. C., Haverhill, Mass.

Write to Peter L. Thacher, 49 Lansdowne street, Boston. He handles that speedometer.

Dear Mr. Fixit: I have a late 1916 Little Six Buick. There is about 1 inch end play in the short shaft that has the high speed gear on the end. Can you tell me what is the trouble? How to remove this shaft? The transmission is the selective sliding gear type. Yours truly, R. P. Lawrence, Mass.

The gear and shaft are integral. Break the power plant at the transmission and remove shaft. The gear or the shaft gear will be ruined. It is quite a job at best, although not very difficult. Take out the bolts from the transmission housing and pull the transmission. This will expose the starter fork. Inspect the hole that the end of the starter fork goes in, which is in the casting. You will need a new fly-wheel housing.

Mr. Fixit: I have a 1919 Chalmers that is giving trouble and the engine heats up. It seems all right until I stop the engine and then the gas comes out of the carbureter. When I want to start the engine again I find it impossible as there is no compression. I have to let it stand awhile, then it will start for me. I use a Stromberg Model L on the car and have had no trouble until the present time. Can you think the ignition is at fault? The engine skips on some cylinders at high speed and runs very rough at low speed. There does not seem to be any compression. J. M., Providence.

Would suggest grinding valves to increase your compression. Your carburetor has a leak from which may have become porous. Put on a fresh coating of shellac and see that the level is all right, not too high, and also clean the fuel valves by grinding the valves on its seat. Your carburetor was made for a higher grade of gasoline than is now on the market and will have to be set richer to get good results. It will run too rich. Your skipping probably comes from poor valves and carburetor adjustment.

Curci's 'Sweet' Voice Is Feature of Opera

By FRED J. McISAAC

If the opening performance of the Chicago Opera was a brilliant affair, what shall be said of the "Traviata" given last night, when the huge auditorium was jammed to the doors and hardly a well-known Bostonian was absent.

On Monday night there were many people present who were not in evening dress. Last night all the display of rich apparel was exceedingly profuse, jewels, white shoulders and snowy shirt fronts were everywhere.

ATTRACTED BY SINGERS.

That it is the singers and not the opera was evidenced by the turnout for one of the least popular of the early Verdi works. Even the presence of Galli-Curci, Gallo and Schipa in the cast of "Traviata" did the trick.

"Traviata" came during the middle period of Verdi. It was written from a libretto based on Dumas' "La Dame aux Camellias," or "Camille," as we know it in English. That play made a tremendous impression half a century ago with its presentation of a courtesan in modern dress and its pathetic death scene.

In those days they didn't know so much about tuberculosis as they do now. Camille died of a wasting lung illness, called it a decline, and had all her heroic efforts stop over the pneumonium when their lovers deserted them. Now that we know it is a wasting lung disease from germ disease, it has lost its romance and we don't hanker to see people die of it to sing music.

FULL OF PRETTY MUSIC.

However, "Traviata" is full of pretty music and Violetta gets to the death scene. The first act, with its gaiety, abounds in pretty melodies, and there is an aria for coloratura soprano in the last act following which is heralded by every human soprano who has been born with a half decent voice.

There is a trick in it that is it. Tenors sing it in high C while stout-voiced basso sing it in low F, and if you don't fortunately these two realize that this was a very wonderful stunt. Galli-Curci is the most recent of the great prima donnas. She has no rival in grand opera in America at the present time. She has her faults like almost everybody else, and singing off the key is the most annoying of them, but when all is said and done, it is an exquisite voice with a middle register unequalled since Melba for loveliness and purity. What her top notes lack in brilliancy they make up in sweetness, and it is safe to say that no better sing star of the day arises.

Last night she was in good voice. Her single flights made her operatic debut by comparison a reasonable possibility. When one thinks of Melba, Tetrazzini, Sembrich and other fat soprani going through this score, one is grateful for Galli-Curci.

SCHIPA SINGS WELL.

"Traviata" calls for a lyric tenor of mellifluous tone, and such singers have not abounded on the operatic stage recently. Schipa, who made his Boston debut last night, is a good lyric tenor. His voice is flexible and true, and he sings with taste and skill.

TROLLEY MEN LAID OFF AT EAST WEYMOUTH

Although three important lines of the Eastern Massachusetts Street railway are buried beneath a coating of snow and ice over a foot deep, repairs were laid off at East Weymouth until further notice. They are conductors and motormen who have been shoveling snow since the tie-up of car service.

The reason given was that there is no money at present in the Quincy division to pay the men for further work.

will be paid $150 for the "best last line" of

LIMERICK No. 22

The completed Limerick reads as follows:

There's a fashion, which many deride,
To wear overshoes flapping and wide,
But the girls have a reason,
In spite of the season,
And we're willing their whims to abide.

Frank H. Rehnborg, assistant manager of the Sterling Tires Corporation of No. 205 Clarendon street, Boston, gave the following simple explanation of his method of compiling in the contest: "I get the American every night and follow it closely. I analyze the situation, think of something humorous as a last line, and make it rhyme with the rest and send it in. I have sent but one other answer to the American, occasionally I have tried my hand in answering Limericks, but up to this time have not been successful. It was a surprise to me, inasmuch as I was not expecting to receive the award, and did it more for the fun of the thing to while away the time."

Mr. Rehnborg has been in Boston for the past six months. His home address is at No. 199 Church street, West Haven, Conn. Since coming here he has become a staunch advocate of the American and an ardent admirer of the paper. "I have always admired Mr. Hearst's innovations, and especially the editorials. They are very plain spoken and don't mince matters, are fearless, and are accomplishing much effective work."

ARE YOU PAYING A BIG PRICE FOR HALF YOU SHOULD GET?

Delicious New Candy Does Double Duty for Cost of Ordinary Laxative

Those folks who would object to paying 100 per cent more for better candy on a pair of shoes are in many cases the very ones who continue to pay the regular price for ordinary old-fashioned laxative when they could get twice as much for their money by buying Partola.

Partola candy is not only delicious to the taste but it is an effective laxative and—more than that—it is an internal antiseptic. It cleanses the intestines as thoroughly as the best laxative ever prescribed and at the same time it aids in removing the poisonous and disease germs from which most of the digestive tract is afflicted. This antiseptic value alone makes Partola the real safe protection it gives to the health of both young and old.

Don't forget the advantages of Partola candies. They are delicious as bon-bons. They are a thorough laxative. And they are also a thorough internal antiseptic. For these reasons they are preferred by thousands of careful people all over the country. You can get Partola in 25c, 50c and $1.00 boxes. Ask him about them today. Try them and be convinced.

Measures That Would Cure Most of the Troubles and Tendencies Which Distress and Alarm Us Today

(1) To nominate for the Presidency by direct nomination and to elect by popular vote.
(2) To elect the Cabinet officers and make them responsible to Congress.
(3) To deprive the President of the power of patronage; to put public offices as nearly as possible under Civil Service, and have appointments made by a committee of Congress.
(4) To elect Federal Judges, including Supreme Court Justices, by popular vote.
(5) To apply the Initiative, the Referendum and the Recall to national matters.

Officials Responsible for the "Hard-Boiled" Order Should Be Removed

The officials of the Federal Board for Vocational Education responsible for the following order to the board's field agents, who judge training claims of disabled soldiers and sailors of the late war, should be removed summarily from the service of the government:

The organs used in approving cases are the eyes and the brain. The ears and the heart do not function. BE HARD BOILED. Members of the district office staffs will beat you over the head with verbal pressure. District pressure causes all our mistakes. Put cotton in your ears and lock the doors. If you are naturally sympathetic, work nights when nobody is there. Accept advice from Central office. Take all the cigarettes you can get from members of the district staffs, but no advice.

This is the infamous "hard-boiled" order. It is indicative of character and disposition that is sadly out of place in the department of government charged with the sacred duty of assuring happy and useful futures to our disabled heroes.

Several months ago the Hearst papers charged that the expert code makers of this Federal board had decreed a secret policy of operation that would just about completely thwart the wishes of the people and Congress relative to the care and repair of the disabled.

That policy was to cut out sentiment in handling boys, to consider all cases from a cold-blooded standpoint and to disregard absolutely the question of reward for sacrifice and service and also the glowing promises of training made by the board in the early stages of its career.

This "hard-boiled" order is the proof of those charges and of the necessity for the immediate discharge of those officials of the board who are in sympathy with it. They do not reflect or interpret the sentiment of the country. They are not competent to pass upon the claims of a wounded American soldier, sailor or marine. The best they do will please but very few. Their continuation in power will destroy the faith of the former service men in the good intentions of their government. And that is the very worst thing that could possibly happen.

The new chief of the rehabilitation branch of the board has given positive evidence of a desire to make the most of his job in the behalf of the disabled. He should not be handicapped by "hard-boiled" superiors or assistants.

Based on Falsehood, the New R. R. Law Cannot Endure

In the new railroad law we have another example of the truth once aptly stated by Grover Cleveland that unorganized good intentions cannot successfully contend for the mastery against the combined efforts of avarice and greed.

The majority of citizens, and, we believe also, a majority of their representatives in office, do not want laws which favor classes of the people at the expense of the many.

But when a thoroughly organized special interest persists for years without adequate check in pouring cunning propaganda into the public ear, public opinion is deceived and public officials follow it astray.

This is what has happened now with the railroads. A decision has been reached on false premises. It, therefore, cannot stand.

The false premise is the widespread opinion that the Interstate Commerce Commission's former policy of rate regulation was not fair.

How many times have you seen the statement that the troubles of the railroads were of government origin; that the commission had viewed its job too narrowly; that the effect of its policy was to "starve" the railroads, break down their credit and thus imperil necessary improvements and extensions?

Because of such repetition and because there has existed no agency sufficiently diligent to expose these misstatements, they came in time to be accepted as true.

The intentions of those, in and out of Congress, who fell victims to this propaganda were good, but their goodness was unorganized, their vigilance was idle and the expertly managed special interest found them easy prey.

Federal regulation of railroads began in 1887, but has been most effective during the past dozen years.

If we find that under Federal regulation the percentage of railway stocks yielding dividends, the amount of dividends declared, the average rate on dividend-yielding stocks and the ratio of dividends declared to all stock have ALL increased by an almost unbroken advance, then surely it will not be truthful to charge Uncle Sam with having "starved the railroads," will it?

That is precisely what we DO find.

During the twelve-year period prior to 1900 only 36 per cent. of the outstanding railway stocks received any dividends. During the twelve-year period just ended, 65 per cent. received dividends, a gain in number of 30 per cent.

During the earlier period the average rate on the dividend-yielding stocks was 5.4 per cent.; during the later period it was 7.78 per cent., a gain of 44 per cent.

Instead, therefore, of starving the railroads, or threatening their credit, these figures prove conclusively that the Interstate Commerce Commission has been liberal with them. They have been starved by the greed of their own private manipulators. Their credit has suffered as the direct result of their own crimes.

The new law which instructs the commission to let them collect from the people enough toll to pay a total of 6 per cent. return on the whole value of their property in use, whether that property was wisely designed in the first place or subsequently operated with prudence or not, is not a reflection on past regulation, but rather is proof how easily a propagandized public can be taken in.

It is not in any sense a settlement of the railroad problem. It is, instead, an unsettlement, for action so founded obviously cannot endure.

More Truth Than Poetry

The Only Difference Is Their Clothes

SHE never had her breakfast while lingering in bed,
No valet with side whiskers prepared his morning bath;
She wasn't any heiress, her hands were big and red;
His specialty was daubing wet plaster over lath.

HER name was only Maggie, and his was merely John,
And he was twenty-seven and she was twenty-three;
Her laughing lips were crimson, but Nature had put on
The pretty blend of colors that he was glad to see.

HE took her to the movies, and there he held her hand,
And when the hero rescued the maiden in distress
She nudged him with her elbow and whispered, "Ain't it grand!"
And he, with glad conviction, replied, "You said it—yes!"

NO novelist will ever describe their small affair,
No uproar would have followed if they had run away.
They found it pleasant sitting upon one kitchen chair;
He whipped a plumber's helper because of her one day.

SUCH things are much too common to claim a thought or glance;
Who cares how John wins Maggie or Mary's wooed by Joe?
Our novels, plays and movies must deal with high romance;
We ask for lords and ladies, and nothing else will go.

BUT John had fights for Maggie, who played her little game
By keeping him uncertain and causing him to grieve;
Their love was as romantic as if the lover's name
Had been Lord Hugh or Cecil, the maiden's Genevieve.

THERE MUST BE SOMETHING IN IT.

Shoplifters are said to have a preference for silk stockings. Moralists may be able to find a connection between this evil and the prevailing scantiness of skirts.

WILLING TO REFORM

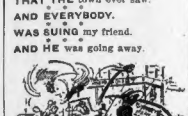
King George of England has decided that prohibition may be a good thing. Betcha the Queen met him in the hall after he'd been hitting the decanter.

Ye TOWNE GOSSIP

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

By K. C. B.

I USED to know him
YEARS AGO,
AND WHEN I met him,
ON A railroad train.
BETWEEN TWO towns.
OUT HERE in the West.
I RECOGNIZED him.
THOUGH HE looked to me.
LIKE A very sick man,
AND I shook hands with him,
AND THEN I saw.
HE WAS very nervous.
AND IT wasn't my business.
AND I didn't ask him
BUT LATER on.
IN THE smoking car.
HE CONFIDED to me.
THAT HE had been chairman.
OF A local committee.
IN HIS little home town.
TO ARRANGE a banquet.
ON LINCOLN Day.
AND HE fixed for the banquet.
AND GOT a bright idea.
ABOUT EXPLODING some bombs.
IN A vacant block.
JUST BEFORE the banquet.
AND ON Lincoln Day night.
HE HAD the bombs.
AND ALONG about seven.
HE EXPLODED one.
AND A butcher's horse.
ATTACHED to a wagon.
AND THAT hadn't been told.
ABOUT THE bombs.
DIDN'T KNOW what it was.
AND RAN away.
AND AN automobile.
IN A frantic effort.
NOT TO hit the horse.
RAN INTO a post.
AND BROKE it off.
AND IT tumbled over.
AGAINST THE window.
OF A druggist's shop.
AND BROKE the window.
AND ALSO a jar.
THAT WAS filled to the brim.
WITH SOMETHING red.
AND A light behind it.
AND THE runaway horse.
WENT AROUND a corner.
AND SWUNG its wagon.
AGAINST ANOTHER wagon.
AND THE second horse.
HADN'T ANY idea.
WHAT WAS going on.
BUT AS all was excitement.
IT RAN away, too.
AND BOTH runaway horses.
RAN ALL over town.
FOR HALF an hour.
AND THE bright red stuff.
IN THE drug store jar.
RAN OUT to the street.
AND WAS tracked all over.
AND ALTOGETHER.
IT WAS the busiest time.
AND THE bloodiest time.
THAT THE town ever saw.
AND EVERYBODY.
WAS SUING my friend.
AND HE was going away.



I THANK YOU.

SOUNDS ARE CLEARER IN THE WINTER

By Garrett P. Serviss

"I have noticed that there is a great increase of loudness and clearness of outdoor sounds in the Winter time, and I have been told that the reason is because the cold air transmits sound better than warm air. If that is so, why?—A. C. L."

COLD air is denser than warm air, and the loudness of sound increases with the density of the medium through which its waves are conveyed. Professor John Tyndall, the prince of popularizers of science, used to illustrate the effect of changes of air density upon sound by putting a clock bell inside the receiver of an air pump.

When the air was nearly all drawn out the sound of the bell could not be heard; when a little air was let in the sound became feebly audible, and as more and more air was admitted the bell was heard more clearly, until at last, when the air pressure inside equalled that outside the receiver, the bell was heard ringing all over the lecture room.

In midwinter the average actual atmospheric pressure (density) is greater than in the warm months.

The cause of the greater density in cold weather is, of course, the contraction in volume of the air as its temperature falls. On the other hand, it has been proved that the velocity of sound is not augmented by increase of density, but rather, other things remaining equal, is diminished. But velocity must not be confused with loudness.

Sounds of all degrees of loudness are conveyed with the same velocity under the same conditions. And, in fact, the colder the air the less the velocity of the sound that passes through it. At the freezing point the mean velocity of sound is 1,090 feet per second, while at ordinary Summer temperature it is about 1,140 feet.

Relief Measures

Editor Boston American:

The five measures of relief on your editorial page, if read carefully, will mean a wonderful enlightenment to the not too certain element of the country.

S. E. LA PERLE.

Engand As a Friend

Editor, Boston American.

I thiuk that no American would care to have America join the League of Nations and have England as a friend when she can't be a friend to her own dependency, India.

Irish Question

Editor Boston American:

I admire the stand Mr. Hearst and the Boston American takes on the Irish question. Any man who would deny Ireland her liberty should be deported from the United States or any liberty-loving country, for he or she is a menace to liberty.

Stand in Dean Case

Editor Boston American:

We have had the Boston American for some time of our newsdealer, but subscribed for it at the beginning of the Dean murder case. We liked the stand the paper took in that case, and also in many other matters.

Convincing

Editor, Boston American.

I am an old New England Yankee, and a Republican, but I'll vote for William Randolph Hearst for President if I ever have a chance—no matter on what ticket he runs. He has convinced me and many of my friends, that he is 100 per cent. American. His action relative to the sale of the German fleet is such that he should receive the thanks of all true men.

STRIVE FOR BRIGHTER SIDE OF LIFE

By Mrs. Wilson Woodrow

IT is all very well to take stock of yourself occasionally and then to have a good mental house-cleaning and throw out all the rubbish; but Spring and Fall are quite often enough for this.

To hold a perpetual carnival of self-analysis only leads to morbidness, despondency and inefficiency. How can any one be good and glad and a joy to his friends if he regards himself as a "worm of the dust" and a "miserable sinner"?

Here is a poor little girl who has become so afraid of her own shadow that she has made a perfect bugaboo of it and attributes to it all sorts of qualities that it doesn't possess.

Her Complaint

She says: "I am twenty-three years old and go to business every day. I am so lonely and miserable that I am obliged to give parties now and then, inviting boys and girls that I don't care a rap about, and who, if they can hurt me, will do so. Perhaps they will see me the next day after and snub me. Of course, a party conducted in such a manner is never a success, and I might as well never give anything at all.

"I am not speaking to lots of my so-called friends, but that doesn't seem to help matters. I am thinking of joining a church in our neighborhood, but I am sure that it will be only a matter of a few days or a few weeks before they will all be against me."

Certainly they will all be "against you" since you have already decided in your own mind that this will be the case.

They will resent the doubt and suspicion which will creep into your manner, since it is in your thoughts, and they will sheer off from you as quickly as possible.

Wrong Weapons

You are using the wrong weapons. If you strike, you will be struck. If you sulk, you will see sulky faces all about you. If you show your raw spots to the world, flies and mosquitoes will cover them.

On the other hand, to win friendship you must show friendliness. If some one hurts you, never give him the satisfaction of seeing it; laugh and forget it. It was probably unintentional, anyway.

Instead of insisting that you are sensitive, insist constantly that you are not. Don't scorn your companions; they have many lovable and delightful traits if you will only take the trouble to find them out.

The Sleeping Palm

A specimen of the rare "sleeping" palm has been found in Golden Gate Park, San Francisco. It is considered to be the only one in North America. The tree, which was brought to America by a young Australian botanist, William Robinson, gives out a peculiar aromatic odor. Its upper branches are loaded with a beautiful rainbow-hued flower, giving forth a heavy perfume. Around the base of the tree are the dead bodies of small animals and birds. The curator who discovered the rare palm felt drowsiness stealing over him, and his son complained of the same feeling. It was found that the tree, which had originally been brought from one of the South Sea Islands, belonged to the species Coccinea somnambulae, or sleeping palm, which blooms only once in fifty years, and the flowers were formerly used as a drug by the islanders.

A Locust Plague

Costa Rica, in Central America, recently suffered from a locust plague of such dimensions—the first since 1878—that the resources of the government were called forth to combat it. The population was for a time thrown into a panic and even women and children turned out to fight the insects. Although blasts of sand from cannon, trains of gunpowder, asphyxiating gases and rockets were all used with more or less success, it was thought by the government officials that had it not been for the appearance of disease among the swarms the coco-bacilli would have undoubtedly proved the most efficient means of getting rid of the pest. This disease killed the locusts by millions. It consisted in the development of a worm in the stomach of the insect, which gradually increased in size until the insect was unable to fly and fell dead to the ground.
